

For 15 days we will meet all competition in the way of special sales, etc. Just bring the other man's ad, and we'll sell you the same thing for 10 per cent less money.

10 Per Cent Discount on All Furniture Advertised

by any house in Washington. If you see anything you want in advertisements of special sales—bargain offers, etc., offered by Tom, Dick or Harry, cut it out and bring it here—we will guarantee to sell the identical article at 10 per cent less money—go first and examine it at the sale—then come here and save 10 cents on every dollar.

Here's a little Bargain of our own:

Solid Oak Chamber Suite, 3 pieces.....$10.00
40-pound Hair Mattress.....$4.75
Wire Spring.....$1.25
Making whole lot only.....$16.00

WASH. B. WILLIAMS,
7th and D Streets.

BECKWITH & CO.
THERMO-OZONE BATTERY

Dr. Becwith's
NEW DISCOVERY IN ELECTRICITY.

THERMO-OZONE BATTERY.

This discovery is of the most vital importance to the sick, because it furnishes families with a means of curing disease at its beginning by home treatment.

The method is by a gentle current of galvanic electricity and the conveyance of oxygen, ozone and medicine into the blood or human system—where disease originates. Its curative value is proven by over 2,000 physicians.

It is even whispered ever so gently, but indubitably in the corridors of the Circumlocution office that Commissioner Ross and Powell are exceedingly obtuse in their opinions on this rough shod drive of the trolley over the District government. The situation at the building appears to be that, only Major Powell and Mr. Truendel being present, there can be no agreement on a plan of action on the new piece of the question introduced by The Times.

Mr. Truendel's opinion is unequivocally that he regards Judge Cole's side remark as a bar to further action by himself at any rate. He said to The Times yesterday that in this he only expressed his own opinion. Major Powell said that the question of further action as contemplated in the proceedings in court was a matter of such moment that it should be considered by the full board.

A QUESTION OF HOURS.

This consideration may be given it today or tomorrow, when the public will know how the Commissioners stand on the question of prosecution, no prosecution, continuance, or a tear down of the poles. There is also the supposition, on fairly good grounds, that the trolley people by specious promises may gain an indulgence until the time arrives when they may settle the whole business in their favor in the marble room of the Senate or the cloak room of the House.

In the meantime The Times will push on to the front with its fight, a skirmish in which was yesterday in the police court. The case was called at 12:30 p. m. Mr. J. H. Ralston, of Ralston & Siddons, was in court watching the proceedings.

Attorney John Ridout appeared for Mr. Gray and asked a continuance on the ground that the case had already been heard when Mr. Schoepf was sentenced to the workhouse two months ago.

SECURED A CONTINUANCE.

In that case a writ of habeas corpus had been denied by Judge Cole, but the case had gone to the court of appeals, had been put on the special calendar and would come up early in October.

In rendering his decision, said Mr. Ridout, Judge Cole recommended that there be no further prosecutions till the court of appeals had occasion to review the case and finally determine whether the writ of habeas corpus would give Mr. Schoepf release from the penalty imposed for his law-breaking.

The Times' representatives, Messrs. M. F. Tighe and Joseph O'Brien, were on hand and all ready for the trial; but Assistant Attorney for the Commissioners Mason N. Richardson had not consulted all the Commissioners.

He replied for the prosecution that he would consent to a brief continuance, but for entirely other reasons.

He said the Commissioners were charged with keeping the streets clear, but had not brought this case to the court.

TO-MORROW THE DAY.

He had been unable to get instructions from all of them, and was willing for the case to go over until Wednesday in order that the Commissioners might take action as a board and give him instructions.

To this Mr. Ridout agreed, upon condition that he might on Wednesday ask for a longer continuance, and make argument in that behalf.

Commissioner Ross is in Illinois with his father, who is very ill, but it is expected will return here to-morrow, and the case will then go on. If it should not be able to come it may be that his opinion will be obtained by wire.

Meanwhile the trolley wires, cars and poles continue to occupy the people's grounds in plain violation of law on the flimsy excuse that they make two minutes better time than the horse cars would make between Fifth and First streets, on New York avenue.

In view of what Commissioner Powell said above it is not surprising that Mr. Richardson will confer with the Commissioners until the return of Mr. Ross.

Another strange circumstance in connection with these latest developments is that it was freely stated that private citizens had the right of instituting such proceedings as those proposed by The Times. Now it appears that there was a proviso that was not then expressed to wit: If the Commissioners have no objection.

WASH. B. WILLIAMS,
7th and D Streets.

BECKWITH & CO.
THERMO-OZONE BATTERY

Dr. Becwith's
NEW DISCOVERY IN ELECTRICITY.

THERMO-OZONE BATTERY.

This discovery is of the most vital importance to the sick, because it furnishes families with a means of curing disease at its beginning by home treatment.

The method is by a gentle current of galvanic electricity and the conveyance of oxygen, ozone and medicine into the blood or human system—where disease originates. Its curative value is proven by over 2,000 physicians.

It is even whispered ever so gently, but indubitably in the corridors of the Circumlocution office that Commissioner Ross and Powell are exceedingly obtuse in their opinions on this rough shod drive of the trolley over the District government. The situation at the building appears to be that, only Major Powell and Mr. Truendel being present, there can be no agreement on a plan of action on the new piece of the question introduced by The Times.

Mr. Truendel's opinion is unequivocally that he regards Judge Cole's side remark as a bar to further action by himself at any rate. He said to The Times yesterday that in this he only expressed his own opinion. Major Powell said that the question of further action as contemplated in the proceedings in court was a matter of such moment that it should be considered by the full board.

A QUESTION OF HOURS.

This consideration may be given it today or tomorrow, when the public will know how the Commissioners stand on the question of prosecution, no prosecution, continuance, or a tear down of the poles. There is also the supposition, on fairly good grounds, that the trolley people by specious promises may gain an indulgence until the time arrives when they may settle the whole business in their favor in the marble room of the Senate or the cloak room of the House.

In the meantime The Times will push on to the front with its fight, a skirmish in which was yesterday in the police court. The case was called at 12:30 p. m. Mr. J. H. Ralston, of Ralston & Siddons, was in court watching the proceedings.

Attorney John Ridout appeared for Mr. Gray and asked a continuance on the ground that the case had already been heard when Mr. Schoepf was sentenced to the workhouse two months ago.

SECURED A CONTINUANCE.

In that case a writ of habeas corpus had been denied by Judge Cole, but the case had gone to the court of appeals, had been put on the special calendar and would come up early in October.

In rendering his decision, said Mr. Ridout, Judge Cole recommended that there be no further prosecutions till the court of appeals had occasion to review the case and finally determine whether the writ of habeas corpus would give Mr. Schoepf release from the penalty imposed for his law-breaking.

The Times' representatives, Messrs. M. F. Tighe and Joseph O'Brien, were on hand and all ready for the trial; but Assistant Attorney for the Commissioners Mason N. Richardson had not consulted all the Commissioners.

He replied for the prosecution that he would consent to a brief continuance, but for entirely other reasons.

MOVING ON THE TROLLEY

Rumor to This Effect Current About District Headquarters.

WAITING FOR PRESIDENT ROSS

Commissioner Truendel's Unbounded as to Further Prosecutions—Major Powell's Views Differ from His. Respect for Judge Cole's Suggestion Times' Case Postponed.

The impression is current in inside circles about the District Building that there is a crisis near at hand in the trolley trust litigation. The case now before the court is the one known as the "Home Railway" case, which is a sudden expression of desire to do something that ought to have been done previously.

IF MR. ROSS HAD BEEN HERE.

It was stated yesterday that had Commissioner Ross been in the city since Saturday there would have been a different face on the case of The Times now in the police court, and it is also confidently stated that when a meeting of the full board can be had there will be no more trifling with trolley settlements and its strain on the law.

It is even whispered ever so gently, but indubitably in the corridors of the Circumlocution office that Commissioner Ross and Powell are exceedingly obtuse in their opinions on this rough shod drive of the trolley over the District government. The situation at the building appears to be that, only Major Powell and Mr. Truendel being present, there can be no agreement on a plan of action on the new piece of the question introduced by The Times.

Mr. Truendel's opinion is unequivocally that he regards Judge Cole's side remark as a bar to further action by himself at any rate. He said to The Times yesterday that in this he only expressed his own opinion. Major Powell said that the question of further action as contemplated in the proceedings in court was a matter of such moment that it should be considered by the full board.

A QUESTION OF HOURS.

This consideration may be given it today or tomorrow, when the public will know how the Commissioners stand on the question of prosecution, no prosecution, continuance, or a tear down of the poles. There is also the supposition, on fairly good grounds, that the trolley people by specious promises may gain an indulgence until the time arrives when they may settle the whole business in their favor in the marble room of the Senate or the cloak room of the House.

In the meantime The Times will push on to the front with its fight, a skirmish in which was yesterday in the police court. The case was called at 12:30 p. m. Mr. J. H. Ralston, of Ralston & Siddons, was in court watching the proceedings.

Attorney John Ridout appeared for Mr. Gray and asked a continuance on the ground that the case had already been heard when Mr. Schoepf was sentenced to the workhouse two months ago.

SECURED A CONTINUANCE.

In that case a writ of habeas corpus had been denied by Judge Cole, but the case had gone to the court of appeals, had been put on the special calendar and would come up early in October.

In rendering his decision, said Mr. Ridout, Judge Cole recommended that there be no further prosecutions till the court of appeals had occasion to review the case and finally determine whether the writ of habeas corpus would give Mr. Schoepf release from the penalty imposed for his law-breaking.

The Times' representatives, Messrs. M. F. Tighe and Joseph O'Brien, were on hand and all ready for the trial; but Assistant Attorney for the Commissioners Mason N. Richardson had not consulted all the Commissioners.

He replied for the prosecution that he would consent to a brief continuance, but for entirely other reasons.

He said the Commissioners were charged with keeping the streets clear, but had not brought this case to the court.

TO-MORROW THE DAY.

He had been unable to get instructions from all of them, and was willing for the case to go over until Wednesday in order that the Commissioners might take action as a board and give him instructions.

To this Mr. Ridout agreed, upon condition that he might on Wednesday ask for a longer continuance, and make argument in that behalf.

Commissioner Ross is in Illinois with his father, who is very ill, but it is expected will return here to-morrow, and the case will then go on. If it should not be able to come it may be that his opinion will be obtained by wire.

Meanwhile the trolley wires, cars and poles continue to occupy the people's grounds in plain violation of law on the flimsy excuse that they make two minutes better time than the horse cars would make between Fifth and First streets, on New York avenue.

In view of what Commissioner Powell said above it is not surprising that Mr. Richardson will confer with the Commissioners until the return of Mr. Ross.

Another strange circumstance in connection with these latest developments is that it was freely stated that private citizens had the right of instituting such proceedings as those proposed by The Times. Now it appears that there was a proviso that was not then expressed to wit: If the Commissioners have no objection.

WASH. B. WILLIAMS,
7th and D Streets.

BECKWITH & CO.
THERMO-OZONE BATTERY

Dr. Becwith's
NEW DISCOVERY IN ELECTRICITY.

THERMO-OZONE BATTERY.

This discovery is of the most vital importance to the sick, because it furnishes families with a means of curing disease at its beginning by home treatment.

The method is by a gentle current of galvanic electricity and the conveyance of oxygen, ozone and medicine into the blood or human system—where disease originates. Its curative value is proven by over 2,000 physicians.

It is even whispered ever so gently, but indubitably in the corridors of the Circumlocution office that Commissioner Ross and Powell are exceedingly obtuse in their opinions on this rough shod drive of the trolley over the District government. The situation at the building appears to be that, only Major Powell and Mr. Truendel being present, there can be no agreement on a plan of action on the new piece of the question introduced by The Times.

Mr. Truendel's opinion is unequivocally that he regards Judge Cole's side remark as a bar to further action by himself at any rate. He said to The Times yesterday that in this he only expressed his own opinion. Major Powell said that the question of further action as contemplated in the proceedings in court was a matter of such moment that it should be considered by the full board.

A QUESTION OF HOURS.

This consideration may be given it today or tomorrow, when the public will know how the Commissioners stand on the question of prosecution, no prosecution, continuance, or a tear down of the poles. There is also the supposition, on fairly good grounds, that the trolley people by specious promises may gain an indulgence until the time arrives when they may settle the whole business in their favor in the marble room of the Senate or the cloak room of the House.

In the meantime The Times will push on to the front with its fight, a skirmish in which was yesterday in the police court. The case was called at 12:30 p. m. Mr. J. H. Ralston, of Ralston & Siddons, was in court watching the proceedings.

Attorney John Ridout appeared for Mr. Gray and asked a continuance on the ground that the case had already been heard when Mr. Schoepf was sentenced to the workhouse two months ago.

SECURED A CONTINUANCE.

In that case a writ of habeas corpus had been denied by Judge Cole, but the case had gone to the court of appeals, had been put on the special calendar and would come up early in October.

In rendering his decision, said Mr. Ridout, Judge Cole recommended that there be no further prosecutions till the court of appeals had occasion to review the case and finally determine whether the writ of habeas corpus would give Mr. Schoepf release from the penalty imposed for his law-breaking.

The Times' representatives, Messrs. M. F. Tighe and Joseph O'Brien, were on hand and all ready for the trial; but Assistant Attorney for the Commissioners Mason N. Richardson had not consulted all the Commissioners.

He replied for the prosecution that he would consent to a brief continuance, but for entirely other reasons.

He said the Commissioners were charged with keeping the streets clear, but had not brought this case to the court.

TO-MORROW THE DAY.

He had been unable to get instructions from all of them, and was willing for the case to go over until Wednesday in order that the Commissioners might take action as a board and give him instructions.

To this Mr. Ridout agreed, upon condition that he might on Wednesday ask for a longer continuance, and make argument in that behalf.

Commissioner Ross is in Illinois with his father, who is very ill, but it is expected will return here to-morrow, and the case will then go on. If it should not be able to come it may be that his opinion will be obtained by wire.

Meanwhile the trolley wires, cars and poles continue to occupy the people's grounds in plain violation of law on the flimsy excuse that they make two minutes better time than the horse cars would make between Fifth and First streets, on New York avenue.

In view of what Commissioner Powell said above it is not surprising that Mr. Richardson will confer with the Commissioners until the return of Mr. Ross.

Another strange circumstance in connection with these latest developments is that it was freely stated that private citizens had the right of instituting such proceedings as those proposed by The Times. Now it appears that there was a proviso that was not then expressed to wit: If the Commissioners have no objection.

AS THE CROWDS COME OUT.

Emily Barker made a palpable hit last night at the new National Theater in "Our Flat," a comedy which deals with the embarrassments and ingenuity of a runaway couple. Miss Barker is pretty, she knows how to act and she is original and natural.

Her support in chief is Mr. Frederick Webster, who also pleased the audience. Mr. Webster's facial expression powers are practically unlimited. Mr. W. M. Mandeville made a good theatrical manager and Miss Anita Verno, as the servant, was somewhat grotesque, but it was her way and it went with the audience. Mr. Philip H. Ely was clever as the "successful actor."

There are some very taking and sprightly songs and some good dancing as a part of the play rather than as variety features.

The vocal selections in the third act were particularly good.

The humor of "Our Flat" is not strained, and the dialogue is clean. One of the scenes, that in which the housemaid is made a manufacturer, is decidedly a good thing.

"Our Flat" should be visited by everybody at least once a night this week.

The personal "Black Crook" attracted a large audience last night to Allen's Grand Opera House. This spectacular romance will be sure of good houses during the week, as it has during its run of half a century or more become a universal theatrical institution.

The present management has made the scenery as gorgeous and realistic as one would expect to see in the romantic regions of the plot, but the specialties, perhaps, give the go to the familiar tales and marvels with which all "Black Crooks" abound.

The strength of the specialties is developed in the third act, in which appear the Mahar Sisters, Mamie Conway, in topical songs; George D. McVie, comic; and a half hundred other good things.

The audience was immensely pleased with the performance and especially the ballets and the Amazon march. Allen's Grand Opera House will be the place to get off the earth all this week.

Manager W. H. Easton, the new lessee of the National Theater, has every reason to be highly gratified at the auspicious opening of his very easy and attractive playhouse last night. Notwithstanding the counter-attractions at the several other theaters, to say nothing of the big military parade, the house was packed to the doors with most appreciative audiences, which enthusiastically applauded the musical comedy burlesque entitled "The Kolak," presented by the Noss Jolly Company.

The patrons of the house found many changes for the better. The interior was undergone a thorough renovation, and in its light and airy and gray, which are the predominant shades in the tasteful decoration, and its new carpets and hangings, it is indeed a bison. The lobby was handsomely decorated with palms and other growing plants, revealing to the audience as it entered the theater.

Just before the curtain was rung up Manager Easton was called upon by the Mayor, and there, surrounded by the company and the attendants of the house, he was presented by Mr. Ely, manager of the company, with a magnificent floral torches, standing about three and one-half feet high. The incident was a great surprise to Mr. Easton, who, in accepting the token of good luck, thanked his employees and expressed to the audience his sincere appreciation of the truly "a family amusement place, where ladies and children may with safety attend without escorts."

The play was above the average of farces, and the company contains some excellent performers, who are especially clever in their specialties. Little Elsie Lever was a prime favorite, and in her dancing specialty made a decided hit, dancing with even more grace than when seen here last year in the "Prodigal Father."

Charles Aldrich as the tramp is one of the best ever seen here in that character. Irving Swarthout as Dad Barnett, and Milton Carroll in southerly part, carried the play with a rush. All the other members of the company were well suited to their several parts.

Mr. Andrew Mack presented his Irish play, "Myra Aaron" to a good house at the Academy last night. Although the story is an old one with a villain who makes the path of love a rough road to travel, the lines are good and full of Irish wit. Mr. Mack is a clever and graceful actor, who has several original compositions with a sweet voice, which is described best as a boy alto. His high notes seem almost impossible, but are pure and true.

In the last scene of the second act he and Miss Coleman do a pleasing love scene in a garden, with a beautiful dance and a chorus of villagers, on which he received a curtain call.

Miss Coleman, as the Irish cousin, and Miss McMillan as Lady Glover, are both graceful and effective, and Mr. W. T. Mason as Pat Phelan, one of the best Irish comedians there has ever been seen here, Little Miss Cabell, a six-year-old child, shows a great deal of confidence and talent, and the six Hilberts, presented by six small New York boys, do a good Irish jig.

Mr. Ogden Stevens, James Vincent and Miss Sargent acted their parts well, and finish on the whole the play is a good one, and one that every true Irishman would enjoy.

Al. Reeves' show, which is at Kean's Lyceum Theater this week, scored a big hit at its first presentation last night.

The make-up of the company is excellent in all its details and kept the audience in a roar of laughter and applause.

Among the best specialties were: Ethana, the armless wonder, and those masters of acrobatics, the Great Dicks. The latter were for some time connected with the Barnum & Bailey's show, and came very near being the best in the business.

The armless wonder lives up to his name in every way. He manages to do with his feet what other people do with their hands, and does it nearly as well. Among some of his best acts are the pulling of a cork from a bottle and shuffling a pack of cards.

The Gaiety Girl Trio were well received, as were the Hatts, whose performances in a musical line were exceptionally good.

Al. Reeves did his turn and was easily the king pin of them all.

DRAMA OF CAPITAL LIFE.

Washington Colony in New York Turned Out to See a Home Play.

(Special to The Times.)

New York, Sept. 9.—The Washington colony here turned out in full force to-night to see genuine Washington drama at the Standard Theater. It is called "Capital," and is the work of Augustus Thomas. The opening scenes show a perfect reproduction of the Capitol at night, with Senate and House in session, and the audience in the galleries.

"The Capitol" is a story of a young Nebraska Congressman, evidently drawn from Representative W. J. Bryan's personality, who comes to Washington with an ambitious young wife. The Congressman falls into the power of a lobbyist, who seeks to estrange the wife's affection. The Nebraska Congressman ignores the lobbyist's persecution of his wife, fearing a political death if the member of the "Third House" is angered.

Dramatic interest is lent to the situation by the presence of the young wife's parents,

DR. WALKER.

A large percentage of the cases cured by Dr. Walker are those with which other physicians have been unsuccessful. His treatment positively cures all disorders of the brain and nervous system, diseases of the skin and blood, catarrh, asthma, consumption, malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuritis, hemorrhoids, diseases of women, sexual weakness, and all affections of the lungs, throat, heart, liver, stomach, kidneys, bladder, bowels, and other organs. Restoration of strength and vitality in men who are conscious of diminished power and vigor, as a result of past follies or over-indulgence, is one of Dr. Walker's specialties.

Dr. Walker may be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter. His well-known sanitarium, at 1411 Pennsylvania avenue, adjoining Willard's Hotel, is open daily for consultation and treatment. Office hours, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Wednesday and Saturday evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12.

Charges for treatment very low. All interviews and correspondence strictly confidential. No cases made public without consent of patients.

from whom she has been separated since her infancy.

Her father is living in Washington as a Catholic priest, and her mother, who eloped with the smooth talker years ago, is a worker in an active charity. There is a sensational close to the third act, when the Congressman forsakes caution and strikes the lobbyist, who has grossly insulted the wife.

"The Capitol" is full of strong situations, and is well acted, but will hardly prove a popular play. There is scarcely a line of comedy to relieve the lines.

STOPPING BIBLES.

Turkish Authorities Delaying Their Delivery on Filmy Excuses.

Constantinople, Sept. 9.—The Turkish authorities at various ports in Asia Minor, notably at Beyrut and Samson, are again subjecting packages sent by the American Bible House, of this city, for the mission stations, to fresh examinations and delays at the ports of arrival.

This is done notwithstanding the fact that all packages are carefully examined by the customs authorities at Constantinople and duly sealed by that body, so that a second examination at the port of entry becomes quite unnecessary.

Not only are such cases of frequent occurrence, but the customs authorities at Beyrut have stopped a consignment of 6,000 Bibles and other books, duly authorized to circulate in the Ottoman Empire, on the pretext that each book has to bear the stamp of the ministry of public instruction, this being quite contrary to the regulations of the Ottoman Empire.

Some of the Washington craps-shooters have selected a novel place in which they play "de bones" to the tune of "cum solido," and "the electric light." The new craps room is a quiet spot under the great iron dome of the Capitol. Policeman J. T. Brennan, of the Sixth precinct, captured Francis Hawkins, colored, while he was engaged in the festive game, and yesterday he forfeited collateral rather than face the music in the police court. Policeman Brennan made the other players who escaped, and expects to land them soon.

Shooting Crap in the Capitol.

Some of the Washington craps-shooters have selected a novel place in which they play "de bones" to the tune of "cum solido," and "the electric light." The new craps room is a quiet spot under the great iron dome of the Capitol. Policeman J. T. Brennan, of the Sixth precinct, captured Francis Hawkins, colored, while he was engaged in the festive game, and yesterday he forfeited collateral rather than face the music in the police court. Policeman Brennan made the other players who escaped, and expects to land them soon.

Secretary Curtis in New York.

New York, Sept. 9.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis called at the sub-treasury today and had a conference with Mr. Conover M. Jordan, the sub-treasurer. Mr. Curtis declined to see reporters, but left word that his visit had no significance in connection with the operations of the gold syndicate in the festive game, and yesterday he forfeited collateral rather than face the music in the police court. Policeman Brennan made the other players who escaped, and expects to land them soon.

John G. Judd's Estate.

The executor of the late John G. Judd, formerly of the firm of Judd & Betts, printers, yesterday filed an inventory of the personal estate which was estimated at $16,205.25. The deceased's interest in the debts due the firm is $2,426.97.

Gold Reserve Still Ebbing.

The Treasury gold reserve at the close of business yesterday stood at $77,710,000. This decline was caused by $1,200,000 in gold being withdrawn in New York for export.

Low Rates to G. A. R. National Encampment.

For National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held at Louisville, Ky., the Pennsylvania Railroad will sell September 7 to 10 inclusive, round-trip tickets to Louisville, Ky., and return, at rate of $13.25.

As Committee in Lunacy.

Mr. George E. Johnson yesterday afternoon asked the court by a petition in equity to appoint him a committee of the person and estate of his mother, Mrs. Johnson, who was recently adjudged insane. She is now confined at Mount Hope Asylum.

The Evening Times gives all the news for a cent.

WE Give Away

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets

To any one sending name and address to us on a postal card.